Preparing for University

If you are 25 or under and do not currently have a Personal Advisor assigned to you from your Local Authority, please contact your Local Authority and request one if you plan on attending University. They'll be able to help you understand and access all the grants and support you are eligible for in the months leading up to your degree.

When applying for degrees, you can compare university offers of support for Care Leavers through <https://propel.org.uk/UK/>. Make sure you look at the offers of support for those with care experience pre-application, during your application and after enrolment at the University. Do they have a specified point of contact for support through application? Do they give a contextual offer for those with care experience (where the entry grade requirement for the course is lower than standard)? What is the value of their annual bursary payment for those with care experience? Do they have mentoring programmes?

Many universities offer a 'Supported Entry Scheme', which offers benefits such as contextual offers, a specified point of contact for support through application, mentoring programs and university visits.

For help with your application contact your Careers Advisor within the college or your Participation Coordinator at the Care Leaver Covenant. Make sure you use all your UCAS choices on your application.

Be careful applying to different degrees at the same university through UCAS, if it's a competitive course, as it may look like you're unsure of what you want to do. For example, midwifery tends to be a very competitive course so in this instance it's advisable to not put down another subject, such as adult nursing. Admissions tutors will want to see your commitment to that course. If you're unsure, ask your college Careers Advisor for guidance or contact the university you're applying to.

Visit the university campus and get a bespoke tour.

Make sure you apply as a Care Leaver when applying for your Student Finance. www.practitioners.slc.co.uk/care-leavers
